In a busy world where sight and sound assault the senses on a daily basis, scent diffusion offers a unique and subtle sensory experience - creating a more balanced mood on any day. More sophisticated than any other sense, smell can trigger the memories and emotions that define life's experiences.

Research confirms this powerful connection is a result of the relationship between the limbic system, which is responsible for memory and emotions, and its direct link to the olfactory gland, which registers smell. For this reason, smell is believed to effect up to %75 of our daily emotions.

With a coverage of up to 400m³ the Aroslim is the ideal solution for banks, retailers and smaller hotel lobbies.

Thanks to its understated looks, the Aroslim will also be a great fit for office receptions, fitness clubs or even for homes.

The Aroslim brings a whole new meaning to 'versatility'.

Perfectly filling the gap between the Aromax and Aroscent, the Aroslim is competitively priced to make scenting even more affordable:

1. To insert a bottle, lift the top part of the Aroslim.
2. Screw the bottle into the top part (do not over-tighten) and place the top part back onto the Aroslim

3. When the red light is on the Aroslim is in stand-by mode
4. Increase the strength by pressing the button (the number of blue lights increase as the strength increases)
